www.xenofarma.com

Xneofarma is committed toward growth and excellence as well as product innovation and quality despite the difficult and hard financial situation in Iraq in the past 18 years through which it managed to overcome becoming among the best distribution companies in Iraq over short period of time. I am proud that the company has exceeded its projections and expectations and I am hopeful to do so in the coming years.

I attribute a great part of success to my fellows in the company. It is through their dedicated efforts, innovative ideas and continuous support that your company has challenged its own limits and scaled a new summit of success each year. They deserve my gratitude for making Xenofarma the company that is it today.

About

Heel is a pharmaceutical company specialized in developing and manufacturing medicines made from natural ingredients for human and veterinary use.

We at Heel are pioneers in the field of natural medicine, and a spirit of curiosity defines how we think and work. This mindset drives the company today and can be traced back to our founding father, Dr. Hans-Heinrich Reckeweg.

Another distinguishing feature is our strong commitment to scientific research and the gathering of evidence.

Our natural medicines are safe and effective in the treatment of many diseases. With the help of cutting-edge research technologies, practice-based and experimental clinical research, Heel is dedicated to find out how these medicines work in the body.

Our goal: To develop therapies which are tailored even more to patients' medical needs.

We are convinced that the future belongs to a medicine, which is based on strengthening the capability of biological networks to regulate themselves with therapeutic help.

Heel medicines are made up of low concentrations of several natural active components (multi-component) which address multiple treatment points in the body (multi-target). When biological networks have become dysregulated, causing disease, this unique therapeutic approach thus offers a safe and effective way of restoring the body's auto regulatory capacity.
